24.10.1 (iii)	However, if the contract which is due to expire was awarded on nomination basis and further contract is also to be awarded on the same agency on nomination basis, the value of such contract should be added to determine the CPA. However, under the following conditions (in respect of services), CPA shall be determined based on the value of each such individual contract: i) Cases pertaining to AMC/Services from OEM/OES. ii) For cases where prior approval of concerned Director has been obtained detailing the justifications for resorting to nomination on continuous basis. Such approvals shall be valid only for a period of three years. For further continuity of such services, the prior approval needs to be obtained afresh from concerned Director which again shall be valid for three years. In cases pertaining to procurement of goods each supply order which is placed even on nomination basis should not be clubbed with other past orders placed on nomination basis for determining the CPA.	However, if the contract which is due to expire was awarded on nomination basis and further contract is also to be awarded on the same agency on nomination basis, the value of such contract should be added to determine the CPA.
